

A horizontal strip of a table with many columns and rows. The table is mostly empty, with only a few faint lines visible. It appears to be a header or a small section of a larger table. The columns are narrow and numerous, and the rows are also narrow and numerous, creating a dense grid of cells. The table is oriented horizontally across the top of the page.